

CHIARA PALMIERI CV

Prof. Chiara Palmieri is a specialist veterinary pathologist (ECVP) working at the School of Veterinary Science (SVS) of the University of Queensland (UQ, Australia). Her research focuses on canine prostate cancer, veterinary oncoepidemiology, veterinary cancer surveillance and cancer data and, more recently, gender equality and women leadership in the field of veterinary science.

She is the Australian representative on the Global Initiative for Veterinary Cancer Surveillance (GIVCS), leader of the development of the Australian Companion Animal Registry of Cancer (ACARCinom), Chair of the canine prostate cancer subgroup at the Oncology Pathology Working Group (OPWG) and coordinator of the comparative oncology theme of the Queensland Alliance of One Health Science (QAOHS).

She is former Director of Research, HDR training Director and Postgraduate Coursework coordinator of the UQ SVS, as well as past President of the Australian Society of Veterinary Pathology (ASVP).