

Kerstin Baiker is a Clinical Professor for Veterinary Pathology at City University's College of Veterinary Medicine and Life Sciences. She graduated from the Vet School in Munich and continued her studies for a doctoral thesis as a cooperation project between the Institute of Diabetes Research (working group for Mitochondrial Genetics) and the Institute of Veterinary Neuropathology. After gaining her doctor title, she started working as a lecturer in veterinary neuropathology at the LMU in Munich. Her research and teaching focused on neuropathological aspects of large, small and lab animals.

In 2009, Kerstin came to the RVC in London to complete a residency in Anatomic Pathology. She passed the certifying examination to become a Diplomate and joined the Nottingham Vet School where she had a leading role in establishing a diagnostic service and an ECVF approved and successful training centre in Veterinary Pathology before moving to Hong Kong.

She is a Senior Fellow of the Higher Education Academy, member of several committees of the European College of Veterinary Pathologists, the European Board of Veterinary Specialisation and is one of the few certified specialists in forensic veterinary pathology in Europe.
